PSE&G upgrades aging gas lines in Milltown

Update: Paving under way

(May 1st, 2017) – PSE&G has finished upgrading a portion of its aging gas lines in Milltown, ensuring the continued safety and reliability of its gas system well into the future. Now that the ground has settled, crews will be paving roads from May 1st through May 5th, weather permitting.

“These upgrades are part of PSE&G’s three-year program to replace 510 miles of aging gas infrastructure throughout New Jersey,” said Joe Forline, vice president - gas operations. “We appreciate the patience of our customers and excellent partnership with local officials as we complete this work. Our goal is to restore roads with minimal impact to residents.”

Police will be directing traffic around work areas, and residents will be able to drive on the roads once paving is complete. Customers will have access to their driveways at all times. For a complete list of impacted streets visit www.pseg.com/gaswork. If residents have any questions about the work, they may speak to the supervisor on site, or call 609-421-8018.
